Work Sought for Workless in Many Communities

THOUGHT GIVEN TO PROBLEM TO RELIEVE DISTRESS

GOVERNORS, MAYORS, BUSINESS MEN, PUBLIC SPIRITED CITIZENS ACT

PROVIDE WAGES INSTEAD OF SOUP KITCHENS AND BREAD LINES

New York, Oct. 10.—(U.P.)—Work was sought for the workless in many American communities today.

Governors, mayors, business men, public-spirited citizens and charitable organizations in many cities gave thought to the problem of relieving distress and to providing wages instead of soup kitchens and bread lines.

A United Press survey showed cities such as New York, Cleveland and Detroit were undertaking to provide funds to systemize unemployment relief work through special bureaus, but while this aided, there still remained an overflow of workmen seeking jobs.

The federal government long since had advocated that as many public works as possible be undertaken, and this counsel was heeded by many states and municipalities. The census report for August 23 showed 2,508,151 "out of work, able to work and looking for a job." The U. S. government has let contracts for public buildings in the present calendar year to cost $43,000,000 and will let another $30,000,000 worth before the close of the year. This makes a total of about $100,000,000 of government work which can be listed as an aid to employment.

In New York state, Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt has recommended creation of local employment committees and co-operation between these and the state advisory council on employment. It was expected an unemployment conference at Rochester today would act on his suggestions.

New York city which has an estimated 235,000 unemployed has established a municipal employment bureau which will remain open until next summer. It has had 35,000 applications for positions including 31,000 men, but so far it has been able to place only 9,474 persons including 7,011 men. Many applicants still visit the bureau, but the high hope of work which arose with its opening has turned to despair.

Gov. L. L. Emerson of Illinois has called a conference for Monday of labor officials, employers, charity workers and others to consider ways of alleviating unemployment. No definite advance program has been worked out, however.

Gov. C. C. Young of California and his council have been called for Oct. 28 to speed up public works and to stimulate private construction projects. San Francisco supervisors are considering barring alien workers on city projects, and the cry of giving work to native Americans rises elsewhere.

Cleveland has a $200,000 emergency ordinance designed to employ 500 to 1,000 men for 40 days, and the city council will consider appropriating $500,000 more. Toledo has proposed a $750,000 bond issue for street construction and repair and Akron will undertake a $500,000 program of water system improvement.

Detroit has started registration of the unemployed, and proposes direct relief to the most needy, while it seeks to have employers cut the time of the employed so some part time may be given to the unemployed.

Missouri reported that the state highway department is pushing work on regular fall projects and proceeding with some 1931 projects. On Oct. 1, 8,000 men were at work on 346 projects, and it is estimated 1,000 more including some farmers, will be at work as soon as further contracts are let. State expenditures on such work have totaled $22,000,000 this year and it is estimated another $3,000,000 will be expended by the end of the year.

Colorado is heavily engaged in highway construction. Kansas is proceeding with highway work, and an extra $2,000,000 in contracts has been awarded. Nebraska is looking to state works to alleviate conditions, and the Lincoln community chest has raised $149,240 for the needy.

At New Britain, Conn., police and firemen are giving two percent of their salaries until Christmas for a relief fund to aid the jobless. Mayor George A. Quigley proposed the plan.

In Utah, the Mormon church has requested well-to-do members to undertake building activities as soon as possible.

Memphis, Tenn., has inaugurated a five day week in its engineering department to maintain employment. The five day week, incidentally, is strongly favored by the American Federation of Labor as a means of keeping more men at work even though at shorter hours than customary under normal employment conditions.

Louisiana voters will decide on Nov. 4 on a constitutional amendment and bond issues which would bring a $135,000,000 expansion program to the state. Included in this work—tended to alle-

LONDON WRITER SAYS WICHITA, KAN., DRIEST PLACE IN U. S.

El Paso, Tex., Oct. 10.—(U.P.)—Claude Cockburn, London editorial writer, believes Wichita, Kan., is the driest place in the United States, he said here, because it took him five minutes to get a drink there. In other towns, he said, it never has taken him more than three minutes. It is harder to get a drink in London after midnight than in America, he said, because the saloons close there at that hour.

GREAT BRITAIN IN TRIBUTE TO R-101 VICTIMS

MEMORIAL SERVICE HELD AT ST. PAUL'S CATHEDRAL IN LONDON

MARKS MOST SOLEMN DAY OF MOURNING SINCE THE WORLD WAR

London, Oct. 10.—(U.P.)—Great Britain's tribute to the dead of the R-101 disaster was paid today at the memorial service at St. Paul's Cathedral, marking the most solemn day of mourning since the world war.

The Prince of Wales, representing the king, and the Duke of York stood with relatives of the victims of the disaster and diplomats of world powers as Royal Air Force trumpeters sounded "The Last Post" to conclude the service.

Previously great crowds had stood in line for hours to pass silently by the 40 coffins in Westminster Hall.

The congregation of about 4,000 sang "God Save the King," and when the sound of the song died away a white-robed priest, standing in the pulpit on which a bright streak of sunlight fell from the great dome, cried "They shall hunger no more, neither thirst any more, neither shall the sun light on them, nor the heat."

The cathedral had been filled for more than an hour before the opening of the ceremony. Cabinet members in full ceremonial robes, delegates to the imperial conference in solemn black, the lord mayor of London in his blue and gold robes, preceded by attendants bearing a large gold mace of office.

Beauvais, France, Oct. 10.—Workmen scrapping the wreckage of the R-101 near Allonne today found two of the five motors of the big ship intact.

POLICE EXTEND SEARCH FOR GEORGE W. PERRY

WANTED IN CONNECTION WITH MURDER OF HIS BIGAMOUS WIFE

BELIEVED TO HAVE BEEN IN ST. LOUIS 3 WEEKS IN SEARCH OF ANOTHER SPOUSE

St. Louis, Oct. 10.—(U.P.)—Police today extended their search for George W. Perry, wanted in connection with the murder of his bigamous wife near Lac Du Flambeau, Wis., to Illinois and other Missouri cities.

Perry was believed to have been here for three weeks in search of another wife. He married a "Mrs. Harriet Milligan" in Belleville, Ill., Monday, according to Justice of the Peace Carl Gass. He was to receive an answer to his marriage proposal the following day from another woman when publication of his picture in newspapers frightened him and, according to police, he left the city.

Perry, apparently alarmed over discovery of his picture, failed to return for his baggage at a downtown hotel where police were waiting to arrest him.

Mrs. Dorothy Hagerty told police that Perry had been searching for a wife here for three weeks and that he was to return Tuesday for her decision on his proposal. Perry, Mrs. Hagerty said, showed her an automobile license card issued to Mrs. Cora Bell Hackett. Mrs. Hackett is the woman whom Perry is believed to have slain after their marriage.

It was estimated that 15,000 persons would be given employment in the various projects.

Governor Christianson Endorses in Part University's "Per Capita Cost" Education

PLAN TO AID THOSE UNABLE TO PAY TUITION

PROPOSED THOSE MAKING HIGHEST GRADES AT ENTRANCE ADMITTED FREE

GOV. CHRISTIANSON STATES EXCEPTIONS AND GIVES HIS RECOMMENDATIONS

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 10.—(U.P.)—Gov. Theodore Christianson today endorsed in part the University of Minnesota's "per capita cost" education plan but suggested that those who could not afford a university career be educated free.

University authorities are considering a plan to finance students on the basis of the per capita cost. The suggestion proposed that those making highest grades in an entrance examination be admitted free. Other students would be forced to pay the "per capita cost" themselves.

"There is no reason why the taxpayer should be called upon to pay $900 per year for a medical education for a young man whose father might earn $10,000 a year," Christianson said.

"There is much in the plan to recommend it. But I believe that the amount of the state's contribution for the education of an individual student should be not a fixed sum, but a sum varying with the student's individual ability or opportunity to earn supplementary funds," he said.

Find Out Where Phrase 'Make Whoopee' Was Originated

Lawrence, Kans., Oct. 10.—(U.P.)—Pale-faces found out today where the phrase "make whoopee" originated, for there was plenty much pow-wow, plenty much food and plenty much Indians here.

For tonight the Haskell Indian institute football team meets the pale-face eleven of the University of Kansas for the first time in 10 years. Athletic relations have been friendly but no cordial between the two schools, despite the fact they rest almost side by side in Lawrence.

The peace pipe made the rounds today. Braves and whites alike joined in the rejoicing.

Tee pees reared their whiteness toward the moon last night as the visiting Indians celebrated the "feast of great gifts."

Winnebagoes there were, and Chippewas—Kaws, Osages, Pueblos, Acomas, Apaches, Dakotas, Blackfeet, Sioux. Many came in shiny motor cars and others in rattling touring cars covered with the dust of some distant reservation.

SCHALL'S MAIL MATTER ENTITLED TO USE OF FRANK

Washington, Oct. 10.—(U.P.)—The post office department announced today it has examined mail sent under the franking privilege to Minnesota voters by Sen. Schall, republican, Minnesota, in the present political campaign, and has determined that the mail matter is entitled to use of the frank.

The matter distributed by Senator Schall consisted of excerpts from the Congressional Record which members of congress are permitted to mail without cost to their constituents at any time, the department said.

A complaint was received yesterday from the Minnesota democratic committee which alleged Schall was using his franking privilege to mail political literature to voters.

St. Paul, Oct. 10.—(U.P.)—Appeal from the decision of the third assistant postmaster general regarding Senator Thomas D. Schall's use of his frank to mail campaign letters to Minnesota voters will be made by Hubert d'Autremont, democratic state central committee chairman, he said today.

D'Autremont said the letter sent by Schall was "not even an excerpt from the Congressional Record, as declared by the federal post office department, although its verbiage in part resembles certain expressions of Senator Schall's speech as printed last spring in the Congressional Record with the privilege of extension of remarks."

He said he would appeal to higher authorities for another ruling on the point.

BISHOP CANNON TO REMAIN SILENT

CHARGES FILED AGAINST HIM BY 4 MEMBERS OF HIS DENOMINATION

Washington, Oct. 10.—(U.P.)—Bishop James Cannon, Jr., expects to remain silent upon charges filed against him by four members of his denomination, but to deny the complaints whenever a properly constituted committee meets to investigate them.

In a statement issued last night, his first since his return to Washington last week from a honeymoon trip, Bishop Cannon said that he had been acquainted with the nature of the charges since his arrival. He asked "suspension of judgment until these complaints have been properly adjudicated in accordance with the procedure prescribed by the church."

The charges against Cannon, while not yet made public, are understood to concern his political and stock market activities.

TO INVESTIGATE AN 'UNDERWORLD EMPIRE' IN ST. PAUL

BELIEVED TO HAVE BEEN ESTABLISHED BY GANGSTERS IN CITIES

THE OCTOBER RAMSEY COUNTY GRAND JURY BEGINS ITS DELIBERATIONS

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 10.—(U.P.)—Charged with the duty of investigating a reported "underworld empire" established by gangsters in the Twin Cities, the October Ramsey county grand jury today began work.

Meanwhile in Minneapolis, police sought two accomplices of Milton Gossett who yesterday confessed to a plot to raid the Fort Snelling arsenal for machine guns to be used in holding up Minnesota banks. One of the banks was believed to be at Faribault.

General W. F. Rhinow today said that gangsters recently have come to Minnesota for summer vacations but that reports of their activity in the Twin Cities had been exaggerated.

Commenting on Judge R. D. O'Brien's charge to the Ramsey county jury, Rhinow said conditions in St. Paul and Minneapolis were not as bad as they had been painted.

"There is little doubt that Chicago, Kansas City and St. Louis gangsters are vacationing at Minnesota resorts. But they don't come here on business. They come here on vacations," Rhinow said.

He revealed for the first time that he personally investigated the rumors that George "Bugs" Moran spent the summer near Brainerd, but that no trace of the Chicago gangster had been found.

"I had two Chicago detectives here to aid in the investigation, but every clue we had was found to be based on nothing more than rumor."

"The triple slaying at White Bear might have happened anywhere. The men were not local racketeers. Two were from Kansas City. The slaying should not be taken to indicate that gangsters have obtained a strong foothold here," Rhinow said.

Difference of Opinion Over Mayor Thompson's Fire Celebration

Chicago, Oct. 10.—(U.P.)—There was a vast difference of opinion among Chicagoans and their newspapers today over Mayor William Hale Thompson's celebration at Soldiers Field commemorating victory over the great fire of Oct. 9, 1871, but upon one point all agreed—that it was a big party.

Some newspapers, notably the Tribune and News, accepted the celebration as the mayor's initial bid for reelection to a fourth term, an event which the News said would be an even greater catastrophe than was the fire 59 years ago.

Other publications, notably those owned by William Randolph Hearst, who was the guest of honor at the anniversary celebration, hailed the show as a "patriotic upheaval" and as "the greatest and most impressive demonstration in the history of the city."

Newark, N. J., Oct. 10.—(U.P.)—Charley Curcio's attempt to commit suicide was nearly fatal to Patrolman Kinsella.

Kinsella was walking his beat when Curcio, standing nearby, put an automatic to his temple. As he pulled the trigger he sneezed. The bullet entered a wall two inches from the policeman's head.

JUDGE LYLE IS GIVEN SEVERE CRITICISM TODAY

IS LEADER OF ORGANIZED DRIVE TO RID CHICAGO OF CRIME AND GANGSTERS

16 FORMER CITY BAR ASSOCIATION PRESIDENTS SAY HE LACKS TEMPERAMENT

Chicago, Oct. 10.—(U.P.)—Municipal Judge John H. Lyle, leader in an organized drive to rid Chicago of crime and gangsters, was condemned today by 16 former City Bar Association presidents as "lacking a judicial temperament and capacity for judicial office."

The 16 attorneys, members of the committee on candidates of the Bar Association, declared in a report to the organization that Lyle was one of five municipal judges who "should not be re-elected."

The report is one of the usual preliminaries to the Bar Association primaries.

In recommending that Lyle not be re-elected, the committee commended him for his "vigor and independence," but condemned him for "lack of judicial temperament and the capacity for judicial office."

Meanwhile Ralph "Bottles" Capone, brother of "Scarface" Alphonse Capone, gang leader, was at liberty again today under $10,000 bond on vagrancy charges, after Judge Lyle refused to show him "courtesy" of the court.

Haled into court while authorities wrangled about a $10,000 bond he previously had obtained, Capone pleaded for courtesy.

"What?" demanded Judge John P. Lyle, "courtesy to a Capone? To a man who with his brother is the head of a gang of criminals the like of which the world has never known? He'll be taken into custody like any other criminal."

Capone was released after Lyle investigated and then approved the bond and granted a change of venue. The change of venue was granted after Capone's attorney said he believed Lyle might be prejudiced in the case.

"CHANGES NEEDED IN PROHIBITION ENFORCEMENT"

CONGRESS MAY ARRIVE AT LAW, "AT LEAST MENTALLY HONEST"

DR. JAMES M. DORAN, FEDERAL COMMISSIONER, EXPRESSES VIEWS

Washington, Oct. 10.—(U.P.)—The belief that changes are necessary in prohibition enforcement methods and that congress may arrive at a law "at least mentally honest," was expressed by Dr. James M. Doran, federal commissioner of industrial alcohol and former prohibition commissioner, during a three-cornered debate last night.

"I think a great reform can be accomplished if we get better lines of demarcation between federal and state activities on prohibition enforcement, and to make the administration of the dry laws so the federal government will aid the states and not seek to supplant the states," Doran said.

The debate was before the Unitarian Laymen's League. Edward B. Dunford, attorney for the Anti-Saloon League, defended the 18th amendment and Rufus Lusk, member of the executive committee of the local Crusaders organization, advocated its repeal.

"I don't say that congress or the states have said the last thing about administration of the dry laws," Doran continued. "There is nothing sacrosanct about always holding more than one-half of one per cent of alcohol content as illegal. It may be that congress will change the enforcement act in some parts, and give one that is at least mentally honest. In my opinion, however, the eighteenth amendment will continue."

IS UNDAMAGED IN THE FORCED LANDING MADE

ISLANDS ARE 25 MILES OFF TIP OF LAND'S END, ENGLAND

THE COLUMBIA WAS DRIVEN 150 MILES OFF COURSE FROM HARBOR GRACE

St. Marys, Scilly Islands, Oct. 10.—The airplane Columbia ended its second eastward crossing of the north Atlantic ocean today on a rocky beach at the Islet of Tresco—some 25 miles short of the Cornish coast.

The plane was reported undamaged in the forced landing on the beach.

The islands, some twenty-five miles off the tip of Lands End, England, were in the path of the veteran Columbia on its flight across the north Atlantic ocean from Harbor Grace, N. F.

The advices received here said the monoplane would not continue to Crocydon tonight.

The Columbia was driven some 150 miles off her course from Harbor Grace, Newfoundland, to Crocydon air-drome, near London, before the landing on the Tresco beach.

Tresco Isle is one of the roughest parts of the southwest coast of England, but it was said the fliers hoped to continue their flight to Crocydon, perhaps tomorrow.

Crocydon airdrome authorities were notified by telegraph of the landing of the Columbia.

The flight of the Columbia from Harbor Grace to the Scilly Isles covered an air line of some 2,100 miles.

The Columbia was the first plane to make the trans-Atlantic flight twice, and its record was more remarkable because the fact that the single engine had not been changed since Chamberlain and Levine flew to Germany three years ago. The engine was estimated to have seen about 850 hours of service.

Valencia, Ireland, Oct. 10.—(U.P.)—The steamship Virgilia reported by wireless today that an airplane flying in an easterly direction was sighted at 49.08 north, 10.25 west, southeast of the Irish coast today.

The position given was approximately that which the Columbia was expected to follow and the elapsed time since the Columbia left Harbor Grace would easily permit the craft to be in the position.

The airplane was flying low, the Virgilia radioed, and was marked with the number 140, which is the marking of the Columbia.

The position given was about 160 miles off the Irish coast, south and east of Valencia.

Harbor Grace, N. F., Oct. 10.—The monoplane Columbia, which left here yesterday at 11:20 A. M. EST, on an attempted non-stop flight to London was believed fighting bad weather in mid-ocean today.

Although reports of the plane's progress were meager, the latest advices indicated that Capt. J. Errol Boyd and Lieut. Harry Connor were making scarcely 80 miles an hour on the first half of the trip.

Weather forecasts warned of rain and poor visibility over the greater part of their course, although the winds were said to be in their favor.

Since Boyd and Connor carried no radio equipment, the only word of their progress necessarily came from the few ships along their route. The steamer Lancaster reported sighting the plane at 5:40 P. M., yesterday, about 475 miles from here.

The Columbia, which Clarence Chamberlain and Charles A. Levine flew from New York to Germany in 1927, faced a trip of 2,400 miles before reaching Crocydon airdrome, just outside the British capital.

Boyd and Connor had sufficient fuel aboard to fly 40 hours. They had hoped to reach Crocydon in less than 24 hours, however.

Connor's navigating placed the ship in a position to the advantage of the favorable winds despite the inclement weather conditions. When sighted by the Lancaster, the Columbia was southeast of here, following a north-west wind which was expected to shift to the west when the fliers had completed half of their journey.

Ordinarily the airmen would follow the great circle course to the northwest, but by deviating and taking full advantage of the tailwinds they apparently believed they could make faster time.

Army Deserter is Killed in Attempted Filling Station Holdup

Cincinnati, O., Oct. 10.—(U.P.)—Earl Martin, 21, Stearns, Ky., who deserted from the army in Fort Benjamin Harrison, Indianapolis, last Monday, was shot to death in an attempted filling station holdup here today and his companion, Charles Stanton, 24, Union City, Ind., was captured.

Martin was killed by Motorcycle Officer Harry Holtman who arrived at the station as the robbery was in progress. Martin pulled the trigger of his gun but the weapon failed to fire and a moment later Holtman shot him down. Stanton who was sitting in a parked car awaiting Martin's return, fled but was captured.

Find Out Where Phrase 'Make Whoopee' Was Originated

Lawrence, Kans., Oct. 10.—(U.P.)—Pale-faces found out today where the phrase "make whoopee" originated, for there was plenty much pow-wow, plenty much food and plenty much Indians here.

For tonight the Haskell Indian institute football team meets the pale-faces eleven of the University of Kansas for the first time in 10 years. Athletic relations have been friendly but no cordial between the two schools, despite the fact they rest almost side by side in Lawrence.

The peace pipe made the rounds today. Braves and whites alike joined in the rejoicing. Tee pees reared their whiteness toward the moon last night as the visiting Indians celebrated the "feast of great gifts."

Winnebagos there were, and Chippewas—Kaws, Osages, Pueblos, Acomas, Apaches, Dakotas, Blackfeet, Sioux. Many came in shiny motor cars and others in rattling touring cars covered with the dust of some distant reservation.

North Salem, Ind., Oct. 10.—(U.P.)—Three men robbed the North Salem State Bank of $2,000 today, joined three companions outside the bank and escaped.

SCHALL'S MAIL MATTER ENTITLED TO USE OF FRANK

Washington, Oct. 10.—(U.P.)—The post office department announced today it has examined mail sent under the franking privilege to Minnesota voters by Sen. Schall, republican, Minnesota, in the present political campaign, and has determined that the mail matter is entitled to use of the frank.

The matter distributed by Senator Schall consisted of excerpts from the Congressional Record which members of congress are permitted to mail without cost to their constituents at any time, the department said.

A complaint was received yesterday from the Minnesota democratic committee which alleged Schall was using his franking privilege to mail political literature to voters.

St. Paul, Oct. 10.—(U.P.)—Appeal from the decision of the third assistant postmaster general regarding Senator Thomas D. Schall's use of his frank to mail campaign letters to Minnesota voters will be made by Hubert D'Autremont, democratic state central committee chairman, he said today.

D'Autremont said the letter sent by Schall was "not even an excerpt from the Congressional Record, as declared by the federal post office department, although its verbiage in part resembles certain expressions of Senator Schall's speech as printed last spring in the Congressional Record with the privilege of extension of remarks."

He said he would appeal to higher authorities for another ruling on the point.

BISHOP CANNON TO REMAIN SILENT

CHARGES FILED AGAINST HIM BY 4 MEMBERS OF HIS DENOMINATION

Washington, Oct. 10.—(U.P.)—Bishop James Cannon, Jr., expects to remain silent upon charges filed against him by four members of his denomination, but to deny the complaints whenever a properly constituted committee meets to investigate them.

In a statement issued last night, his first since his return to Washington last week from a honeymoon trip, Bishop Cannon said that he had been acquainted with the nature of the charges since his arrival. He asked "suspension of judgment until these complaints have been properly adjudicated in accordance with the procedure prescribed by the church."

The charges against Cannon, while not yet made public, are understood to concern his political and stock market activities.

WOMAN IN COMA OVER 914 HOURS

St. Paul, Oct. 10.—(U.P.)—Unconscious longer than any other patient in the history of Ancker hospital, Mrs. Max Begtol, Lincoln, Neb., remained in a coma today 914 hours after being injured in an auto crash Sept. 2. Physicians said she still had a chance for recovery.

TO INVESTIGATE AN 'UNDERWORLD EMPIRE' IN ST. PAUL

BELIEVED TO HAVE BEEN ESTABLISHED BY GANGSTERS IN CITIES

THE OCTOBER RAMSEY COUNTY GRAND JURY BEGINS ITS DELIBERATIONS

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 10.—(U.P.)—Charged with the duty of investigating a reported "underworld empire" established by gangsters in the Twin Cities, the October Ramsey county grand jury today began work.

Meanwhile in Minneapolis, police sought two accomplices of Milton Gossett who yesterday confessed to a plot to raid the Fort Snelling arsenal for machine guns to be used in holding up Minnesota banks. One of the banks was believed to be at Faribault.

General W. F. Rhinow today said that gangsters recently have come to Minnesota for summer vacations but that reports of their activity in the Twin Cities had been exaggerated.

Commenting on Judge R. D. O'Brien's charge to the Ramsey county jury, Rhinow said conditions in St. Paul and Minneapolis were not as bad as they had been painted. "There is little doubt that Chicago, Kansas City and St. Louis gangsters are vacationing at Minnesota resorts. But they don't come here on business. They come here on vacations," Rhinow said.

He revealed for the first time that he personally investigated the rumors that George "Bugs" Moran spent the summer near Brainerd, but that no trace of the Chicago gangster had been found.

"I had two Chicago detectives here to aid in the investigation, but every clue we had was found to be based on nothing more than rumor."

"The triple slaying at White Bear might have happened anywhere. The men were not local racketeers. Two were from Kansas City. The slaying should not be taken to indicate that gangsters have obtained a strong foothold here," Rhinow said.

Difference of Opinion Over Mayor Thompson's Fire Celebration

Chicago, Oct. 10.—(U.P.)—There was a vast difference of opinion among Chicagoans and their newspapers today over Mayor William Hale Thompson's celebration at Soldiers Field commemorating victory over the great fire of Oct. 9, 1871, but upon one point all agreed—that it was a big party.

Some newspapers, notably the Tribune and News, accepted the celebration as the mayor's initial bid for reelection to a fourth term, an event which the News said would be an even greater catastrophe than was the fire 59 years ago.

Other publications, notably those owned by William Randolph Hearst, who was the guest of honor at the anniversary celebration, hailed the show as a "patriotic upheaval" and as "the greatest and most impressive demonstration in the history of the city."

SNEEZE OF WOULD BE SUICIDE CHANGES COURSE OF BULLET

Newark, N. J., Oct. 10.—(U.P.)—Charley Curcio's attempt to commit suicide was nearly fatal to Patrolman Kinsella.

Kinsella was walking his beat when Curcio, standing nearby, put an automatic to his temple. As he pulled the trigger he sneezed. The bullet entered a wall two inches from the policeman's head.

JUDGE LYLE IS GIVEN SEVERE CRITICISM TODAY

IS LEADER OF ORGANIZED DRIVE TO RID CHICAGO OF CRIME AND GANGSTERS

16 FORMER CITY BAR ASSOCIATION PRESIDENTS SAY HE LACKS TEMPERAMENT

Chicago, Oct. 10.—(U.P.)—Municipal Judge John H. Lyle, leader in an organized drive to rid Chicago of crime and gangsters, was condemned today by 16 former City Bar Association presidents as "lacking a judicial temperament and capacity for judicial office."

The 16 attorneys, members of the committee on candidates of the Bar Association, declared in a report to the organization that Lyle was one of five municipal judges who "should not be re-elected."

The report is one of the usual preliminaries to the Bar Association primaries.

In recommending that Lyle not be re-elected, the committee commended him for his "vigor and independence," but condemned him for "lack of judicial temperament and the capacity for judicial office."

Meanwhile Ralph "Bottles" Capone, brother of "Scarface" Alphonse Capone, gang leader, was at liberty again today under $10,000 bond on vagrancy charges, after Judge Lyle refused to show him "courtesy" of the court.

Haled into court while authorities wrangled about a $10,000 bond he previously had obtained, Capone pleaded for courtesy.

"What?" demanded Judge John P. Lyle, "courtesy to a Capone? To a man who with his brother is the head of a gang of criminals the like of which the world has never known? He'll be taken into custody like any other criminal."

Capone was.

Capone finally was released after Lyle investigated and then approved the bond and granted a change of venue. The change of venue was granted after Capone's attorney said he believed Lyle might be prejudiced in the case.

"CHANGES NEEDED IN PROHIBITION ENFORCEMENT"

CONGRESS MAY ARRIVE AT LAW, "AT LEAST MENTALLY HONEST"

DR. JAMES M. DORAN, FEDERAL COMMISSIONER, EXPRESSES VIEWS

Washington, Oct. 10.—(U.P.)—The belief that changes are necessary in prohibition enforcement methods and that congress may arrive at a law "at least mentally honest," was expressed by Dr. James M. Doran, federal commissioner of industrial alcohol and former prohibition commissioner, during a three-cornered debate last night.

"I think a great reform can be accomplished if we get better lines of demarcation between federal and state activities on prohibition enforcement, and to make the administration of the dry laws so the federal government will aid the states and not seek to supplant the states," Doran said.

The debate was before the Unitarian Laymen's League. Edward B. Dunford, attorney for the Anti-Saloon League, defended the 18th amendment and Rufus Lusk, member of the executive committee of the local Crusaders organization, advocated its repeal.

"I don't say that congress or the states have said the last thing about administration of the dry laws," Doran continued. "There is nothing sacrosanct about always holding more than one-half of one per cent of alcohol content as illegal. It may be that congress will change the enforcement act in some parts, and give one that is at least mentally honest. In my opinion, however, the eighteenth amendment will continue."

IS UNDAMAGED IN THE FORCED LANDING MADE

ISLANDS ARE 25 MILES OFF TIP OF LAND'S END, ENGLAND

THE COLUMBIA WAS DRIVEN 150 MILES OFF COURSE FROM HARBOR GRACE

St. Marys, Scilly Islands, Oct. 10.—The airplane Columbia ended its second eastward crossing of the north Atlantic ocean today on a rocky beach at the Islet of Tresco—some 25 miles short of the Cornish coast.

The plane was reported undamaged in the forced landing on the beach.

The islands, some twenty-five miles off the tip of Lands End, England, were in the path of the veteran Columbia on its flight across the north Atlantic ocean from Harbor Grace, N. F.

The advices received here said the monoplane would not continue to Crocody tonight.

The Columbia was driven some 150 miles off her course from Harbor Grace, Newfoundland, to Crocodyndrome, near London, before the landing on the Tresco beach.

Tresco Isle is one of the roughest parts of the southwest coast of England, but it was said the fliers hoped to continue their flight to Crocody, perhaps tomorrow.

Crocodyndrome authorities were notified by telegraph of the landing of the Columbia.

The flight of the Columbia from Harbor Grace to the Scilly Isles covered an air line of some 2,100 miles.

The Columbia was the first plane to make the trans-Atlantic flight twice, and its record was more remarkable because of the fact that the single engine had not been changed since Chamberlain and Levine flew to Germany three years ago. The engine was estimated to have seen about 850 hours of service.

Valencia, Ireland, Oct. 10.—(U.P.)—The steamship Virgilia reported by wireless today that an airplane flying in an easterly direction was sighted at 49.08 north, 10.25 west, southeast of the Irish coast today.

The position given was approximately that which the Columbia was expected to follow and the elapsed time since the Columbia left Harbor Grace would easily permit the craft to be in the position.

The airplane was flying low, the Virgilia radioed, and was marked with the number 140, which is the marking of the Columbia.

The position given was about 160 miles off the Irish coast, south and east of Valencia.

Harbor Grace, N. F., Oct. 10.—The monoplane Columbia, which left here yesterday at 11:20 A. M. EST, on an attempted non-stop flight to London was believed fighting bad weather in mid-ocean today.

Although reports of the plane's progress were meager, the latest advices indicated that Capt. J. Errol Boyd and Lieut. Harry Connor were making scarcely 80 miles an hour on the first half of the trip.

Weather forecasts warned of rain and poor visibility over the greater part of their course, although the winds were said to be in their favor.

Since Boyd and Connor carried no radio equipment, the only word of their progress necessarily came from the few ships along their route. The steamship Lancastria reported sighting the plane at 5:40 P. M., yesterday, about 475 miles from here.

The Columbia, which Clarence Chamberlain and Charles A. Levine flew from New York to Germany in 1927, faced a trip of 2,400 miles before reaching Crocodyndrome, just outside the British capital.

Boyd and Connor had sufficient fuel aboard to fly 40 hours. They had hoped to reach Crocodyndrome in less than 24 hours, however.

Connor's navigating placed the ship in a position to the advantage of the favorable winds despite the inclement weather conditions. When sighted by the Lancastria, the Columbia was southeast of here, following a north-west wind which was expected to shift to the west when the fliers had completed half of their journey.

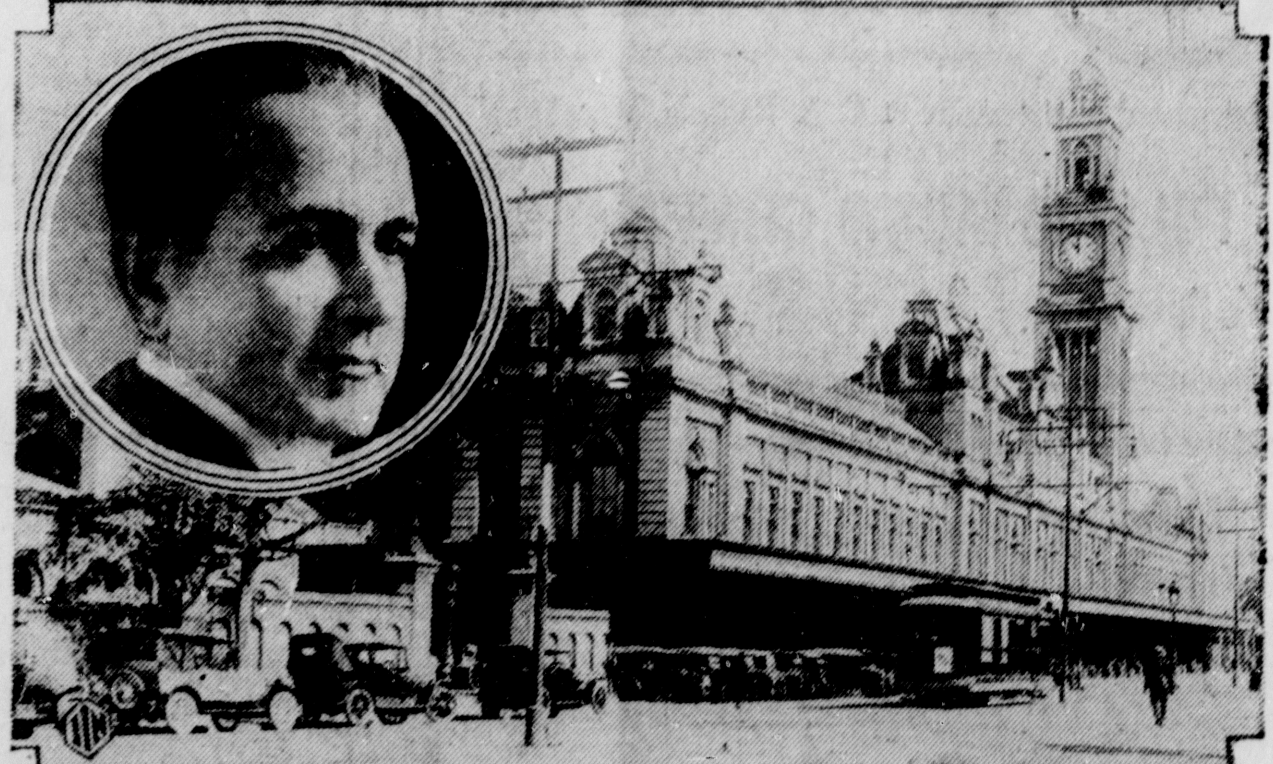

Ordinarily the airmen would follow the great circle course to the northwest, but by deviating and taking full advantage of the tailwinds they apparently believed they could make faster time.

Army Deserter is Killed in Attempted Filling Station Holdup

Cincinnati, O., Oct. 10.—(U.P.)—Earl Martin, 21, Stearns, Ky., who deserted from the army in Fort Benjamin Harrison, Indianapolis, last Monday, was shot to death in an attempted filling station holdup here today and his companion, Charles Stanton, 24, Union City, Ind., was captured.

Martin was killed by Motorcycle Officer Harry Holtzman who arrived at the station as the robbery was in progress. Martin pulled the trigger of his gun but the weapon failed to fire and a moment later Holtzman shot him down. Stanton who was sitting in a parked car awaiting Martin's return, fled but was captured.

Brazil Army Moves to Fight Rebel Forces

While an armed cruiser of the Brazilian Navy stands off the port of Rio Grande, its guns trained on the city, rebel forces menace Sao Paulo (above), second largest city of the republic. The rebel army outside the city is estimated at 80,000 under the leadership of Getulio Vargas (inset) former finance minister in the cabinet of President Washington Luis. Federal troops move to defend Rio and Sao Paulo.

RAINS HAVE SOME EFFECT ON ROADS

Frequent rains during the past week have not seriously affected the trunk highways except some stretches which have under construction or recently graded, according to the weekly road condition report issued by the State Highway department today. Some of these stretches are reported poor. Shoulders along new pavements are soft, and drivers are urged to take care that they stay on the concrete.

The last stretches of new pavement on No. 10, from Pennock to Kerkhoven, has been opened to traffic, making continuous pavement on this route as far west as Benson. Some stretches are not yet shouldered.

A temporary bridge has been opened at Stillwater, replacing the ferry. The load limit is six tons. It will be retained until the permanent bridge is completed next summer. The Hudson bridge will remain closed at least one week more.

Says Democratic Victory Might Cause Panic in Business

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 10.—(UP)—A democratic victory in the November election might cause a panic in business, Renick W. Dunlap, assistant secretary of agriculture, told a political gathering here last night. Dunlap said normal business conditions would be delayed until 1932 if the democrats won the coming election.

Senator "Frank" Schall

IN open violation of the law, Senator Schall now sends out under his Senatorial frank another personal letter to the voters of Minnesota. Supposing that fifty thousand such letters have been mailed free—and that is a modest estimate—Senator Schall has in this instance alone robbed the Government and the taxpayers who support it of a thousand dollars. He has in effect dipped into the United States Treasury for a thousand dollars to use in his campaign fund. He has drafted the Postoffice Department to work for him at its own expense.

The Senator is a member of the Committee on Postoffices and Post Roads. He, if anyone, ought to know and obey the law. He does know it—and knowingly flouts it.

Senator Schall's personal letter to voters is the familiar mixture of braggadocio and mis-statement, of crass appeals to passion and prejudice, that he has used so often to befool the electorate.

"Powerful interests in the East, as well as their cohorts of the West," says this letter, "will do everything they can to bring about my defeat."

Then why did they send Senator Moses, of New Hampshire, out here to declare for Schall's candidacy? Moses of the Old Guard, Moses who coined "Sons of the Wild Jackass," appeals to Minnesota to elect Schall! Those "powerful interests of the East" seem to be for Schall rather than against him—perhaps in gratitude for his rushing to the support of Boss Vare of Pennsylvania and his purchased seat in the Senate.

"If you believe in a tariff that will protect the farmers and business interests of the Northwest," says this letter, "I should have your support."

Why? Aside from voting against the Tariff Bill on its final passage, just what has Senator Schall done in the tariff line for the farmers of the Northwest? Not once did he go before the Finance Committee to argue for a single desired farm rate.

Again his letter says: "If you believe that the independent merchants and business men of this State should survive, I ask your vote."

How is Senator Schall going to help them survive? Not having done anything as yet, is he now going to try to put through anti-chain store legislation? If so, is he going to banish all the chain elevators, all the chain filling stations, all the chain coal yards, all the chain lumber yards, along with the chain groceries and drug stores? He must include all of these, or his bill will be unconstitutional, as proved by the court decision.

As Senator Schall is a promiser, but not a doer, it is likely that he merely wants to get the votes of the independent merchant and his friends. As for doing anything about chain stores, just what could he, or would he do?

And then this letter brings up the old hokum about Senator Schall's position at the head of the Inter-oceanic Canals Committee as giving him tremendous powers to get the needed appropriation for the nine foot channel.

But such appropriations do not go before that committee, which has nothing whatever to do with internal waterways and which has had no meetings for several years. And if Senator Schall's much vaunted chairmanship is such a potent position, why didn't he use it to get the nine foot channel into the Rivers and Harbors Bill? Why didn't he go before the committee in charge and strut his stuff? Why did he leave all the work to Senator Shipstead and then—with election day coming—try to horn in on the glory?

If Senator Schall couldn't get the nine foot channel into the bill, despite his chairmanship of a sleeping committee, how can he do anything about getting the needed money appropriated for the project?

Looks as if Senator Schall had better write another letter—and buy his own postage stamps.—Minneapolis Journal.

Automobile Fatalities Increasing

WITH more than 20,000,000 drivers on the road, it is not surprising that automobile accidents in a single year kill almost as many Americans as were lost from battle wounds in the World War.

This is not due to the fact that cars cannot be driven more safely, because statistics show that it is twice as dangerous to drive in Newark, N. J., than in Washington, D. C., for instance. Cleveland has more accidents, in proportion to its population, than any other city in the country.

In New York city, 40 per cent of the victims are children and three times as many boys as girls are killed. That is probably because boys are more likely to play in the streets than girls are. Children, of course, are often at fault but that does not lessen the tragedy of it.

When children are killed or injured in the street, it is often because the driver cannot bring his car to a stop quickly enough in the emergency. His tires refuse to grip and hold the pavement when the brakes are applied suddenly and disaster follows. This is especially likely to happen if the pavement is slightly wet.

Outlook for Next Summer's Business

THE outlook for next summer's business is very good in the Brainerd Lake Region and in Brainerd, the summer capital of this wide area. Advertising of the region will be continued.

The startoff of Camp Ripley will bring many visitors to Brainerd and this number will increase as the camp nears completion. It will bring to its maneuver grounds the guardsmen of Minnesota and later those from other states as well as the regular army.

Brainerd's summer business will have as proportionately a large increase as one finds in Florida where the tourist season does its annual miracle in trade increase.

Brainerd is daily resting on a more secure foundation. Brainerd people who have been out west and have returned home say this section has advantages of more value than many of the regions they have inspected. In fact, one never realizes how good one's home has been until one leaves and settles somewhere else and then has a change for a comparison.

The Urge to Live

By JOHN HAMLIN

(Copyright.)

THE dull clack of the shears matched the discouraged look in Dan Berry's eyes. He had shaped cardboard to fit the inner sole of his shoe on other mornings; but yesterday he had walked a hole in the thin sole of his second shoe. Two pieces of cardboard were needed now.

No money for a new pair, only a five-dollar bill remaining from his last commission check—enough to eat on till he made another sale—it ever. But he'd worked through his best list of prospects. Few had bought—nobody else wanted the set of books he was offering.

Awful, a book agent's lot. "H—l, what's the use!" Dan Berry jammed the cardboard into place and worked his foot into the shoe.

"A ditch digger's more independent, makes better money."

But he couldn't dig ditches, couldn't get any kind of a job. No place open for a gray-headed man, with lines in his face and tired eyes. No use trying; there's no use striking out this morning.

Thank the Lord, nobody looked to him for support, friends avoided him of late. Nobody cared what happened—he didn't, either.

His landlady had gone out for the day. No trick to fasten down the window, tack a blanket over the door of his hall room, turn on the gas in the heater.

Dan Berry carefully tied the laces of his worn shoes, stood up and winced. The cardboard hurt the bottom of his feet—well, what of it?

He limped across to his unmade bed, picked up a heavy blanket. It would cover the door completely.

Half-way to the door, the zzzing of a bell sounded. The blanket dropped from his nervous fingers.

Again the bell sent its metallic peal echoing through the house. There was nobody in but himself. He hesitated and for the third time the bell rang.

How often had he rung door bells, waited expectantly, hopefully; rung the second time, less expectantly; the third time all hope vanished. A wretched feeling—he preferred a curt dismissal to an unanswered door bell.

Berry hastily picked up the blanket, tossed it upon the bed and forgot to limp in hurrying to the front door.

From the hallway he saw the head and shoulders of a man through the glass of the door. The shoulders drooped wearily, gray hair showed above the collar; the hat was ill fitting.

When the knob turned in Berry's grasp, the man wheeled.

Berry caught sight of the brief case the man was carrying. An agent! Here's where he could pay off a hundred scores, enact the role of a dominant householder—heep insults upon this pestering peddler.

Directly he noted the man straightening his shoulders; smiling off the lines of dejection, forcing a spark of interest in tired, blue eyes.

"Good morning!"

Berry's acute ear caught the meant-to-be-cherry greeting; more than that. It was like an echo of his own voice when he was inwardly praying that here, at last, was somebody who'd sign on the dotted line.

Then, while still in this strange mental swirl, Berry suddenly became conscious of familiar words, phrases that he had learned by heart, repeated time and again, mostly under just such odds as this—himself standing outside the door, trying to melt cold resistance.

Curiosity swept away all antagonism. He was interested to learn how this agent put over his selling talk.

"Come in!" Berry flung the door wide.

The man's face lighted up in a way that brought a dampable lump into Berry's throat. "Sit down," he gruffed.

The man opened his brief case to the accompaniment of the stereotyped sales talk. Berry sat down beside the agent, scanning the familiar pages of the prospectus. He exclaimed over the fine illustrations, asked intelligent questions—heard the man clear up to the psychological point where he produced samples of bindings, took out a fountain pen and pushed the contract invitingly towards him.

"Five dollars down is all that's required. The books will be shipped to you immediately. The balance paid in twenty monthly installments."

Berry took the fountain pen, rolled it between his fingers tentatively. He pressed down the nib, saw that the ink was ready to flow, then stole a glance at the agent.

He was bending far forward, the tired lines had vanished, his eyes glinting under a hypnotic expression.

Dan Berry lifted the pen from the paper, without signing and the man slumped, ageing twenty years instantly.

That struck home. Dan Berry understood. He signed on the dotted line, arose and walked down to his bedroom. Returning, he handed the agent the five-dollar bill.

He heard the man's thanks, bowed him out the door and limped on back to his room. He picked up his own brief case, put on his out-of-date hat and limped out of the house.

He had brought down upon himself an urge to live. He had signed one of his own firm's contracts, bound him to go on struggling till those twenty monthly installments were paid to the last cent.

RADIO RECEIVERS GET MANY TESTS

Few people realize the thousands of tests that a radio receiver undergoes in the process of manufacture.

Small parts, such as screws, nuts, etc., are carefully inspected. Raw materials must come up to strict specifications. Manufactured parts are subjected to rigid tests. And all this is previous to the actual assembly of the receiver.

The receiver itself is assembled on a metal chassis. This method has been adopted because it makes for strength, simplicity, and low cost. As soon as the parts have been mounted on this chassis and connected together, the receiver is given a preliminary test to determine that the circuits are complete and that it will operate satisfactorily.

Then, it is tested under actual receiving conditions. Thirty frequency oscillators (which correspond to the broadcasting stations). A few years ago, the reception was judged by ear. Now, carefully calibrated measuring instruments show exactly the output of the receiver as it is tuned to the different oscillators. The performance of every receiver must be up to a certain standard in order for it to be passed.

To be even more certain that all receivers meet the requirements, samples are taken periodically at random from production and tested by departments other than the regular inspection groups.

By means of these many precautions, the modern radio manufacturer is enabled to deliver a uniform, high-quality product.

DOCTOR THINKS FAST TO MAKE THREE DOLLARS

Company Fails to Collect For Unordered Merchandise.

A doctor in a certain town recently received a box of Christmas cards through the mail which he hadn't ordered. The next day he received a bill requesting one dollar in payment for the cards.

Being wise to the unordered merchandise scheme the doctor made up a box of pills and sent them to the company which had sent him the Christmas cards. He also sent the company a letter stating that the pills were worth two dollars and would the company kindly send him one dollar, the balance due him after subtracting the dollar he owed the company for the Christmas cards.

He soon received a second letter from the company again requesting him to send a dollar in payment for the cards.

This time he replied that he charged two dollars for making a call and since it had been necessary for him to leave his office to post this letter his bill now amounted to three dollars, two dollars for the call and one dollar still due him for his pills. Would the company kindly remit?

A few days later he received a very short letter from the company to the effect that his name had been stricken from its mailing list.

Local residents who have been bothered by receiving unordered boxes of Christmas cards through the mails may do well to take a tip from the doctor. According to the office of the Postmaster General it is neither necessary to return unordered cards nor to pay for them unless used.

Trees Had Tenants
Woodmen cutting down two ancient elms at Lindley Wood, near Nunaton, England, made two unusual discoveries. In the first tree they cut through a swarm of bees, which were so effective in their protests against being disturbed that the woodmen had to abandon their work. When the second tree was felled a nest of young rabbits was revealed in the stump.

Berry's acute ear caught the meant-to-be-cheerful greeting; more than that, it was like an echo of his own voice when he was inwardly praying that here, at last, was somebody who'd sign on the dotted line.

Then, while still in this strange mental swirl, Berry suddenly became conscious of familiar words, phrases that he had learned by heart, repeated time and again, mostly under just such odds as this—himself standing outside the door, trying to melt cold resistance.

Curiosity swept away all antagonism. He was interested to learn how this agent put over his selling talk.

"Come in!" Berry flung the door wide.

The man's face lighted up in a way that brought a damnable lump into Berry's throat. "Sit down," he gruffed.

The man opened his brief case to the accompaniment of the stereotyped sales talk. Berry sat down beside the agent, scanning the familiar pages of the prospectus. He exclaimed over the fine illustrations, asked intelligent questions—heard the man clear up to the psychological point where he produced samples of bindings, took out a fountain pen and pushed the contract invitingly towards him.

"Five dollars down is all that's required. The books will be shipped to you immediately. The balance paid in twenty monthly installments."

Berry took the fountain pen, rolled it between his fingers tentatively. He pressed down the nib, saw that the ink was ready to flow, then stole a glance at the agent.

He was bending far forward, the tired lines had vanished, his eyes glinted with an hypnotic expression.

Dan Berry lifted the pen from the paper, without signing and the man slumped, ageing twenty years instantly.

That struck home. Dan Berry understood. He signed on the dotted line, arose and walked down to his bedroom. Returning, he handed the agent the five-dollar bill.

He heard the man's thanks, bowed him out the door and limped on back to his room. He picked up his own brief case, put on his out-of-date hat and limped out of the house.

He had brought down upon himself an urge to live. He had signed one of his own firm's contracts, bound him to go on struggling till those twenty monthly installments were paid to the last cent.

RADIO RECEIVERS GET MANY TESTS

Few people realize the thousands of tests that a radio receiver undergoes in the process of manufacture.

Small parts, such as screws, nuts, etc., are carefully inspected. Raw materials must come up to strict specifications. Manufactured parts are subjected to rigid tests. And all this is previous to the actual assembly of the receiver.

The receiver itself is assembled on a metal chassis. This method has been adopted because it makes for strength, simplicity, and low cost. As soon as the parts have been mounted on this chassis and connected together, the receiver is given a preliminary test to determine that the circuits are complete and that it will operate satisfactorily.

Later, it is tested under actual receiving conditions. Various frequency oscillators (which correspond to the broadcasting stations). A few years ago, the reception was judged by ear. Now, carefully calibrated measuring instruments show exactly the output of the receiver as it is tuned to the different oscillators. The performance of every receiver must be up to a certain standard in order for it to be passed.

To be even more certain that all receivers meet the requirements, samples are taken periodically at random from production and tested by departments other than the regular inspection groups.

By means of these many precautions, the modern radio manufacturer is enabled to deliver a uniform, high-quality product.

DOCTOR THINKS FAST TO MAKE THREE DOLLARS

Company Fails to Collect For Unordered Merchandise.

A doctor in a certain town recently received a box of Christmas cards through the mail which he hadn't ordered. The next day he received a bill requesting one dollar in payment for the cards.

Being wise to the unordered merchandise scheme the doctor made up a box of pills and sent them to the company which had sent him the Christmas cards. He also sent the company a letter stating that the pills were worth two dollars and would the company kindly send him one dollar, the balance due him after subtracting the dollar he owed the company for the Christmas cards.

He soon received a second letter from the company again requesting him to send a dollar in payment for the cards.

This time he replied that he charged two dollars for making a call and since it had been necessary for him to leave his office to post this letter his bill now amounted to three dollars, two dollars for the call and one dollar still due him for his pills. Would the company kindly remit?

A few days later he received a very short letter from the company to the effect that his name had been stricken from its mailing list.

Local residents who have been bothered by receiving unordered boxes of Christmas cards through the mails may do well to take a tip from the doctor. According to the office of the Postmaster General it is neither necessary to return unordered cards nor to pay for them unless used.

Trees Had Tenants

Woodmen cutting down two ancient elms at Lindley Wood, near Nuneaton, England, made two unusual discoveries. In the first tree they cut through a swarm of bees, which were so effective in their protests against being disturbed that the woodmen had to abandon their work. When the second tree was felled a nest of young rabbits was revealed in the stump.

BIG TEN CONFERENCE GRID COMPETITION OPENS SATURDAY

HOPES OF FOUR ASPIRANTS FOR '30 HONORS TESTED

PURDUE, WISCONSIN MEET RIVALS WITH FEW CHAMPIONSHIP ILLUSIONS

NORTHWESTERN NOW TOUTED AS THE OUTSTANDING TITLE CONTENDER

By DIXON STEWART
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Chicago, Oct. 10.—With the formal opening of Big Ten conference football competition tomorrow, championship hopes of four acknowledged aspirants for 1930 honors will be tested.

Two teams—Purdue, the defending champion, and Wisconsin, darkest of "dark horse" possibilities—meet rivals which entertain few championship illusions, but the third conference game, Ohio State vs. Northwestern, brings together the two early season titular favorites.

Northwestern was touted as the outstanding title contender even before practice got under way and if its star back, Hank Bruder, avoids his injury jinx, promises to be one of the nation's outstanding teams.

Ohio State, generally overlooked in pre-season forecasts, gained respect by its impressive performance in games with Mt. Union and Indiana and is being hailed as the leading "dark horse" contender.

Purdue has championship hopes despite the loss of its all-American stars, Welch and Sleight, and a schedule which calls for six conference games. A victory over Michigan provided the inspiration for the Boilermaker's championship drive last season.

Wisconsin, reputed to have the best material of recent years, faces the danger of an upset in its opening game, with Chicago. The Chicago team rates far below Wisconsin, but Coach

CRISLER STRESSES AERIAL ATTACK, AND DEFENSE

Stagg has thrown caution to the winds and will gamble his hopes for success on a deceptive and unorthodox passing attack.

The four remaining conference teams meet outside foes, with the Minnesota-Stanford game as the outstanding attraction. Minnesota took a bad beating from Vanderbilt and appears destined for another defeat.

Like Minnesota, Indiana is better than its 23 to 0 defeat by Ohio State indicated and the Hoosiers expect to get back in the victory column by defeating Oklahoma A. & M.

Illinois' green team showed promise in defeating Iowa State and regards tomorrow's game with Butler solely as a "warm up" for its conference debut against Northwestern next week.

Iowa meets a second strong inter-sectional foe in Centenary but Coach Ingwersen apparently has developed an improved backfield combination and the Hawkeyes are favored to defeat the southerners.

The two fighters have met twice before, the first bout ending in a draw, and the second going to Petrolle by a knockout.

STANFORD FOOTBALL SQUAD ARRIVES FOR INTERSECTIONAL CLASSIC

WESTERN MEN HAVE A WORK-OUT AT LAFAYETTE CLUB GROUNDS

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 10.—(U.P.)—The Cardinal menace to Minnesota's football aspirations—the Stanford football squad—arrived today for an inter-sectional classic.

When Pop Warner's red jerseyed warriors run onto Memorial Stadium field tomorrow, Coach Fritz Crisler's proteges will face their second inter-sectional game within a week. Last Saturday Vanderbilt, southern football leaders, defeated the Gophers, 33 to 7.

Crisler stressed an aerial attack and a subtle defense against Stanford's deceptive type of play during this week's practices.

Stanford worked out this morning on the grounds of the Lafayette Club where the squad will stay. They are expected to have a final light workout this afternoon at the stadium to familiarize themselves with the field. The Gophers will take a secret practice late today.

Twin City hockey fans in former years watched many duels between the men when they were forwards on the Minneapolis and St. Paul teams.

RED JACKETS MEET PORTSMOUTH, OHIO TEAM ON SUNDAY

FANS WILL HAVE CHANCE TO SEE GLASGOW AND "CHUCK" BENNETT IN ACTION

JACKETS SIGN TRUESDELL, ALL-STATE TACKLE FOR 3 YEARS AT HAMLINE

The Minneapolis Red Jackets are going ahead this week with both morning and afternoon practice and they are laying plans to retrieve their laurels after last Sunday's defeat at the hands of the strong Chicago Bears led by Bronko Nagurski and Red Grange.

In the Bear-Jacket game last week the interest centered in the Joesting-Nagurski rivalry. Next Sunday when the Jackets hook up with the Portsmouth, Ohio, Spartans, the fans will have a chance to see Glasgow, last year's all-American from Iowa, and "Chuck" Bennett, the great Indiana halfback of former days, in action against the Red Jackets.

With only one defeat chalked against them, the Red Jackets feel that they are still very much in the race, despite the fact that the Spartans and Green Bay remain undefeated. They point out that their standing is as good as that of the Chicago Bears, with a defeat and a tie to their credit. The Bears, by the way, are in for a busy afternoon Sunday when they clash with the New York Giants in Chicago.

Harold Truesdell, the giant Hamline tackle, is the latest star to be signed by the Red Jackets. Harold played sensational football in college and was named all-state tackle three times in a row. He finished school last June.

DENY RUMORS OF TRADE OR SALE OF 6 CARDINAL PLAYERS

St. Louis, Oct. 10.—(U.P.)—Rumors that six Cardinals players will be traded or sold to other baseball clubs were denied by both Manager "Gabby" Street and President Sam Breadon of the Cardinal club. The six who were slated to find berths in other clubs, according to rumors, were Jim Bottomley, Jess Haines, Chick Hafey, Flint Rhem, Ernie Ostratt and probably Taylor Douthett.

But Sam Breadon said it's all imagination. Street said he has been too busy with baseball playing to think about trades.

BASEBALL TUCKED AWAY UNTIL SPRING

EASTERN FOOTBALL NOW TAKES ON DECIDEDLY BUSINESS-LIKE AIR

New York, Oct. 10.—(U.P.)—Baseball tucked away until another spring, eastern football takes on a decidedly business-like air this week end, with two first class inter-sectional games on the books.

In addition to the cross-country tiffs, several worthy scraps are scheduled between inter-sectional rivals, notably Lafayette and Colgate at Hamilton, N. Y., and New York university and Villanova here in the Yankee stadium.

But it is the inter-sectional games, involving two of the south's major eleven and two of the east's finest, that are holding the football spotlight along the Atlantic seaboard this week. The first, and probably the best, of these is the Georgia-Yale game in the bowl at New Haven. The second, and a rip-snorter in itself, is the Georgia Tech-Carnegie Tech battle at Pittsburgh.

Yale and Carnegie are slight favorites—Yale because of a wealth of brilliant backfield talent headed by the one and only Albie Booth, and Carnegie because of well-balanced strength in both offensive and defense.

JIMMY McLARNIN
WHO WITH A FIVE POUND WEIGHT ADVANTAGE BELTED OUT AL SINGER.

WHO MAULING THE LIGHTER KID CHOCOLATE IN ANOTHER HANDICAP MATCH!

SURELY Jimmy McLarnin, a "north of Ireland boy" from Vancouver, B. C., and Jackie Kid Berg, smart little Hebrew from London's Whitechapel section, are among the most conspicuous crowd-pleasers now in fistiana's limelight. Jimmy is that because he's a first-class ringster with a real knockout punch. Jackie delights the fans because he battles from bell to bell in a persistent attack which stalling never interrupts. Though McLarnin would be a rather strong favorite to win, what a battle those boys would put up until either was dropped for the ten count!

McLarnin knocked Singer kicking in the third round at New York City a few weeks ago, the hard-hitting lightweight champion seemingly being outclassed by the slightly heavier welter with the soporific wallop.

Berg won a 10-round decision over the foxy Kid Chocolate earlier in the Summer, but many still dispute the justice of that verdict, though this Sport Bug thought it was fair enough. Jackie earned the nod because, as usual, he kept boring in and blazing away in such fashion as to keep his opponent "bicycling" and counter-attacking only in brief flurries. Of course, Chocolate is not to be compared, as yet at least, with McLarnin in power of punch, but the Kid's right hand is potent and Berg shook off the Cuban's best shots with that.

On the surface, however, it would seem a cinch for the slugger Irish to reach the Whitechapel Express and wreck him, though it would be far harder for Jimmy to get "set" against Berg than it was against Singer, and you have to "set" in order to deliver a real K. O.

A Berg-Singer match with the lightweight title at stake would seem logical—far more than any "over-weight" affair between "The Little Greb" and McLarnin—but they may stall the former battle off until next year's open-air season.

Meanwhile fandom is wondering what psychological effect that K. O. by "Mac" will have on Singer's future and who will be Jimmy's next important victim. Many would like to see McLarnin matched with the latest Argentine sensation, Justo Suarez, and that may come to pass before next Spring, probably in New York City.

"CATFISH" SMITH
ONE OF THE ACES OF THE GEORGIA ELEVEN MEETING YALE OCT. 11TH!

GEORGIA HAS A HABIT OF UPSETTING STRONG YALE TEAMS--

BOO--TH!

--BUT "LITTLE ALBIE" MAY SURPRISE THE SOUTHERNERS!

TOMORROW afternoon Yale will try hard to avenge the 15-0 defeat suffered last Fall when Old Eli's team trekked South to dedicate the Georgia Stadium at Athens amid good old-fashioned rebel yells, college cheers and a gorgeous collection of Dixie belles in sunlit surroundings all of which contributed to make the event the most colorful perhaps in Southern football history thus far. The Georgians bottled up Albie Booth that day while their own stars, featuring the dazzling "Catfish" Smith, gave the tough 'ol Bulldog its worst mauling of 1929.

This year, "Catfish" (he shines either at end or in the backfield) is heading towards New Haven, Conn., ready, like his comrades, to prove that their home triumph over Yale was not a fluke.

A couple of seasons back, Georgia made its initial invasion of Connecticut and, thanks to a most redoubtable team, led by the line-smashing "Bull" McCrary, the Southerners gave Old Eli a real trouncing, but not as decisively as they did the job in christening their stadium with that Yankee blue blood last Fall.

Inspired by the elusive Booth, who's a junior this season, Yale had a fairly strong team in 1929. This year's outfit is rated as considerably more powerful and it may begin to drive on all cylinders against Georgia. If that be so, Yale men believe the public will know who put the "crack" in "Crackers" before the present week ends.

Georgia Tech is also going North to play Carnegie Tech this Saturday. Its most conspicuous problem thus far is to find suitable backfield successors for "Stumpy" Thomason and Warner Mizell. Coach W. A. Alexander hopes that Bob Strickland, Sid Williams, or Doug Graydon may develop class approaching Thomason-Mizell standards. Tech has a splendid quarterback in Capt. Earl Dunlap and far better than average line material. The team faces a severe test against the Carnegie Skibos as its Athenian rivals do in battling the Yale Bulldog.

When Pop Warner's red jerseyed warriors run onto Memorial Stadium field tomorrow, Coach Fritz Crisler's proteges will face their second intersectional game within a week. Last Saturday Vanderbilt, southern football leaders, defeated the Gophers, 33 to 7.

Crisler stressed an aerial attack and a subtle defense against Stanford's deceptive type of play during this week's practices.

Stanford worked out this morning on the grounds of the Lafayette Club where the squad will stay. They are expected to have a final light workout this afternoon at the stadium to familiarize themselves with the field. The Gophers will take a secret practice late today.

2 BITTER ENEMIES IN HOCKEY TO PLAY AS TEAMMATES

Minneapolis, Oct. 10.—(U.P.)—Two of professional hockey's bitterest enemies may play side by side as teammates this winter, it appeared today.

Frank "Moose" Goheen, former St. Paul player, is expected to join the Minneapolis club of the American league to take his place beside Bill Coutu, once his bitter enemy.

Twin City hockey fans in former years watched many duels between the men when they were forwards on the Minneapolis and St. Paul teams.

RED JACKETS MEET PORTSMOUTH, OHIO TEAM ON SUNDAY

FANS WILL HAVE CHANCE TO SEE GLASGOW AND "CHUCK" BENNETT IN ACTION

JACKETS SIGN TRUEDELL, ALL-STATE TACKLE FOR 3 YEARS AT HAMLINE

The Minneapolis Red Jackets are going ahead this week with both morning and afternoon practice and they are laying plans to retrieve their laurels after last Sunday's defeat at the hands of the strong Chicago Bears led by Bronko Nagurski and Red Grange.

In the Bear-Jacket game last week the interest centered in the Josting-Nagurski rivalry. Next Sunday when the Jackets hook up with the Portsmouth, Ohio, Spartans, the fans will have a chance to see Glasgow, last year's all-American from Iowa, and "Chuck" Bennett, the great Indiana halfback of former days, in action against the Red Jackets.

With only one defeat chalked against them, the Red Jackets feel that they are still very much in the race, despite the fact that the Spartans and Green Bay remain undefeated. They point out that their standing is as good as that of the Chicago Bears, with a defeat and a tie to their credit. The Bears, by the way, are in for a busy afternoon Sunday when they clash with the New York Giants in Chicago.

Harold Truesdell, the giant Hamline tackle, is the latest star to be signed by the Red Jackets. Harold played sensational football in college and was named all-state tackle three times in a row. He finished school last June.

DENY RUMORS OF TRADE OR SALE OF 6 CARDINAL PLAYERS

St. Louis, Oct. 10.—(U.P.)—Rumors that six Cardinals players will be traded or sold to other baseball clubs were denied by both Manager "Gabby" Street and President Sam Breadon of the Cardinal club.

The six who were slated to find berths in other clubs, according to rumors, were Jim Bottomley, Jess Haines, Chick Hafey, Flint Rhem, Ernie Osratt and probably Taylor Douthett.

But Sam Breadon said it's all imagination. Street said he has been too busy with baseball playing to think about trades.

BASEBALL TUCKED AWAY UNTIL SPRING

EASTERN FOOTBALL NOW TAKES ON DECIDEDLY BUSINESS-LIKE AIR

New York, Oct. 10.—(U.P.)—Baseball tucked away until another spring, eastern football takes on a decidedly business-like air this week end, with two first class inter-sectional games on the books.

In addition to the cross-country tiffs, several worthy scraps are scheduled between inter-sectional rivals, notably Lafayette and Colgate at Hamilton, N. Y., and New York university and Villanova here in the Yankee stadium.

But it is the inter-sectional games, involving two of the south's major eleven and two of the east's finest, that are holding the football spotlight along the Atlantic seaboard this week. The first, and probably the best, of these is the Georgia-Yale game in the bowl at New Haven. The second, and a rip-snorter in itself, is the Georgia Tech-Carnegie Tech battle at Pittsburgh.

Yale and Carnegie are slight favorites—Yale because of a wealth of brilliant backfield talent headed by the one and only Albie Booth, and Carnegie because of well-balanced strength in both offense and defense.

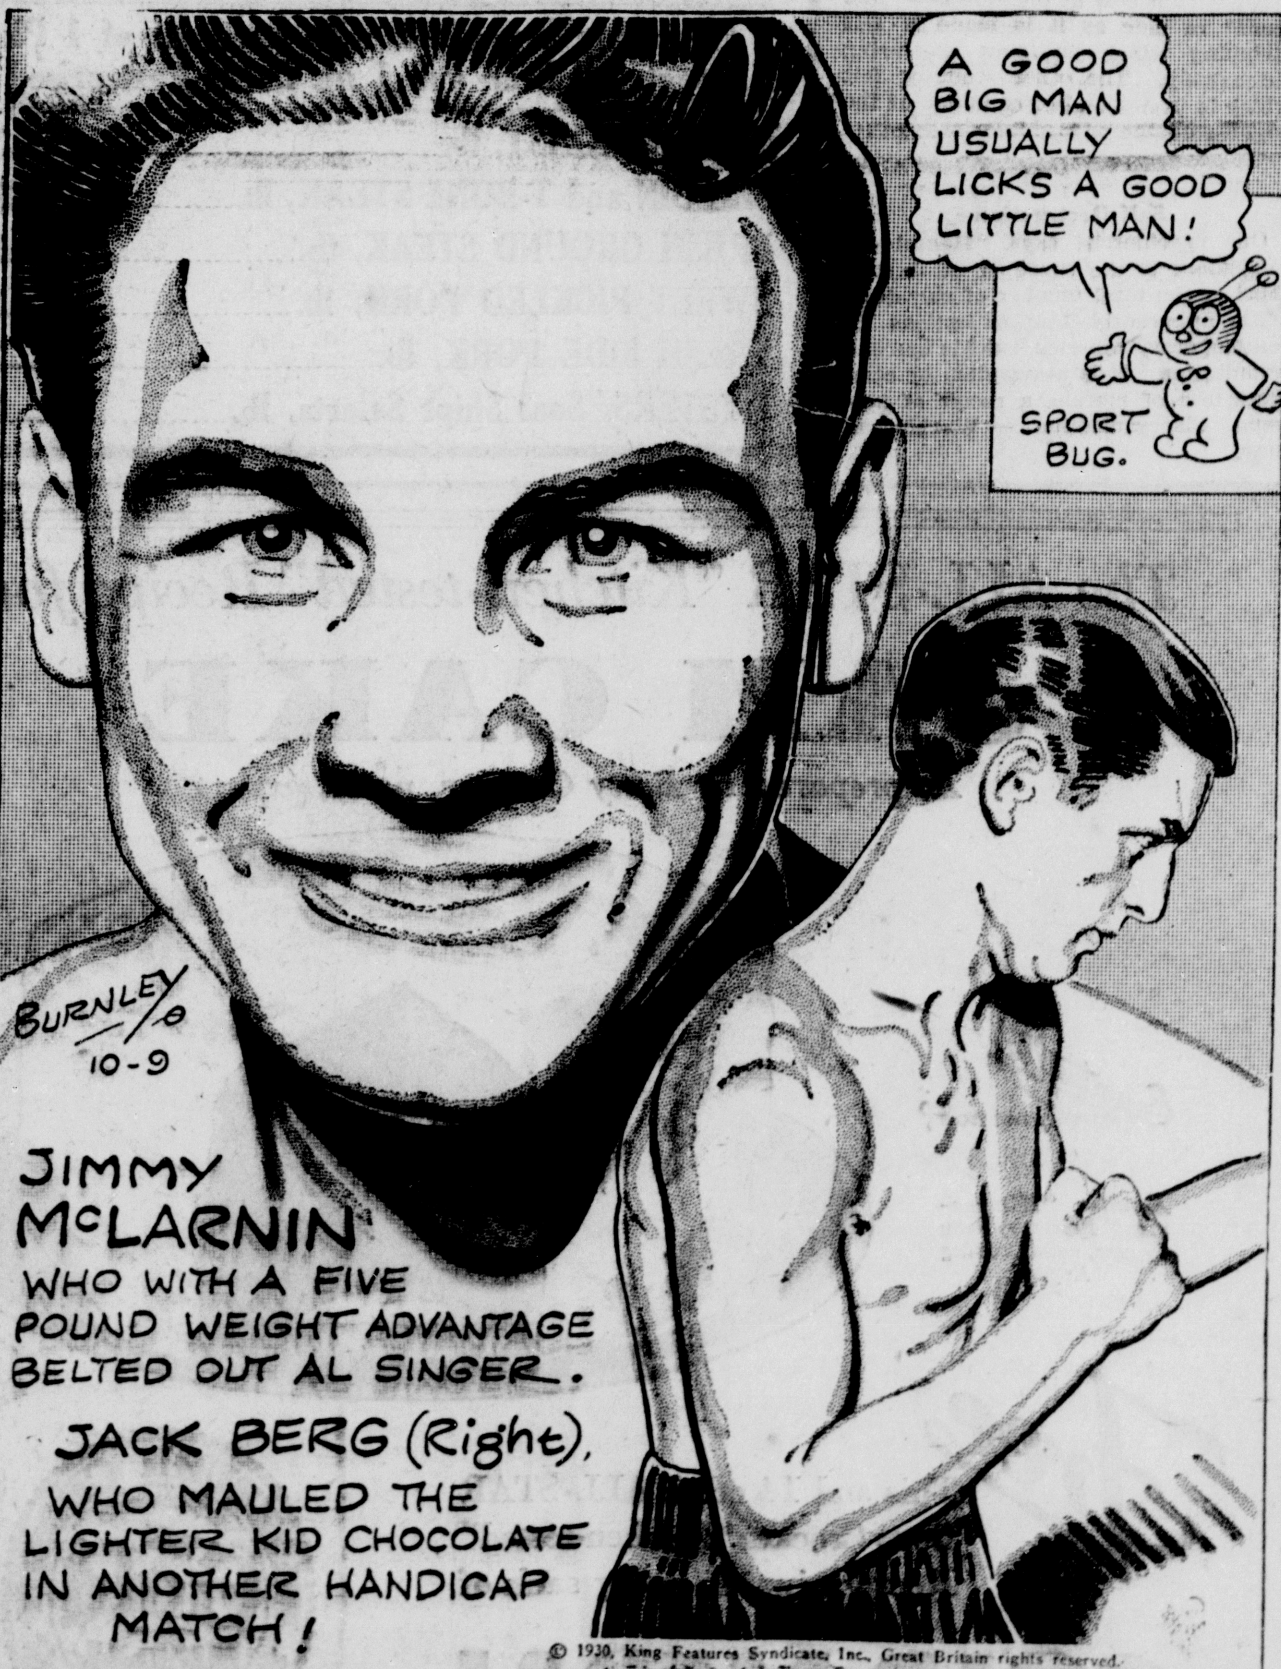

LITTLE FALLS PLAYS ST. CLOUD TECH TODAY

Little Falls, Minn., Oct. 10.—(U.P.)—All the schools here dismissed early today so students could rally for the Little Falls-St. Cloud Technical high school game at 3 p. m. today.

For the first time in several years Little Falls was conceded a chance to defeat the St. Cloud school rivals. The Little Falls band will play at the game.

"Natural" In the Works

By HARDIN BURNLEY

JIMMY McLARNIN WHO WITH A FIVE POUND WEIGHT ADVANTAGE BELTED OUT AL SINGER.

JACK BERG (Right), WHO MAULED THE LIGHTER KID CHOCOLATE IN ANOTHER HANDICAP MATCH!

SURELY Jimmy McLarnin, a "north of Ireland boy" from Vancouver, B. C., and Jackie Kid Berg, smart little Hebrew from London's Whitechapel section, are among the most conspicuous crowd-pleasers now in fistiana's limelights. Jimmy is that because he's a first-class ringster with a real knockout punch. Jackie delights the fans because he battles from bell to bell in a persistent attack which stalling never interrupts. Though McLarnin would be a rather strong favorite to win, what a battle those boys would put up until either was dropped for the ten count!

McLarnin knocked Singer kicking in the third round at New York City a few weeks ago, the hard-hitting lightweight champion seemingly being outclassed by the slightly heavier welter with the soporific wallop.

Berg won a 10-round decision over the foxy Kid Chocolate earlier in the Summer, but many still dispute the justice of that verdict, though this Sport Bug thought it was fair enough. Jackie earned the nod because, as usual, he kept boring in and blazing away in such fashion as to keep his opponent "bicycling" and counter-attacking only in brief flurries. Of course, Chocolate is not to be compared, as yet at least, with McLarnin in power of punch, but the Kid's right hand is potent and Berg shook off the Cuban's best shots with that.

On the surface, however, it would seem a cinch for the slugger Irishman to reach the Whitechapel Express and wreck him, though it would be far harder for Jimmy to get "set" against Berg than it was against Singer, and you have to "set" in order to deliver a real K. O.

A Berg-Singer match with the lightweight title at stake would seem logical—far more than any "over-weight" affair between "The Little Greb" and McLarnin—but they may stall the former battle off until next year's open-air season.

Meanwhile fandom is wondering what psychological effect that K. O. by "Mac" will have on Singer's future and who will be Jimmy's next important victim. Many would like to see McLarnin matched with the latest Argentine sensation, Justo Suarez, and that may come to pass before next Spring, probably in New York City.

"Battle of the Bulldogs" Near

By HARDIN BURNLEY

TOMORROW afternoon Yale will try hard to avenge the 15-0 defeat suffered last Fall when Old Eli's team trekked South to dedicate the Georgia Stadium at Athens amid good old-fashioned rebel yells, college cheers and a gorgeous collection of Dixie belles in sunlit surroundings all of which contributed to make the event the most colorful perhaps in Southern football history thus far. The Georgians bottled up Albie Booth that day while their own stars, featuring the dazzling "Catfish" Smith, gave the tough o' Bulldogs its worse mauling of 1929.

This year, "Catfish" (he shines either at end or in the backfield) is heading towards New Haven, Conn., ready, like his comrades, to prove that their home triumph over Yale was not a fluke.

A couple of seasons back, Georgia made its initial invasion of Connecticut and, thanks to a most redoubtable team, lead by the line-smashing "Bull" McCrary, the Southerners gave Old Eli a real trouncing, but not as decisively as they did the job in christening their stadium with that Yankee blue blood last Fall.

Inspired by the elusive Booth, who's a junior this season, Yale had a fairly strong team in 1929. This year's outfit is rated as considerably more powerful and it may begin to drive on all cylinders against Georgia. If that be so, Yale men believe the public will know who put the "crack" in "Crackers" before the present week ends.

Georgia Tech is also going North to play Carnegie Tech this Saturday. Its most conspicuous problem thus far is to find suitable backfield successors for "Stumpy" Thomason and Warner Mizell. Coach W. A. Alexander hopes that Bob Strickland, Sid Williams, or Doug Graydon may develop class approaching Thomason-Mizell standards. Tech has a splendid quarterback in Capt. Earl Dunlap and far better than average line material. The team faces as severe a test against the Carnegie Skibos as its Athenian rivals do in battling the Yale Bulldogs.

GAUCHOS CHANGE COSTUMES FOR SOLDIERS' KHAKI

ARE HARD RIDING AND FIGHTING MEN OF BRAZILIAN CATTLE COUNTRY

LEAVE THEIR RANGES FOR THE BATTLE FRONT, HUNDREDS OF BOARD TROOP TRAINS

A. W. Folger, of the United Press Bureau in Buenos Aires, is the first American newspaperman to establish contact with revolutionary forces in Brazil. Folger's first dispatch from Sant' Ana Do Livramento, state of Rio Grande Do Sul, follows. The revolution started in Rio Grande Do Sul, and Folger will follow its developments there and in other parts of southern Brazil.

(Copyright, 1930, by United Press)
Sant' Ana Do Livramento, Brazil, Oct. 10.—The "Gauchos" of southern Brazil, hard riding and fighting men of a great cattle country, have changed their picturesque costumes for soldiers' khaki.

They have left the ranges for the battle front, and hundreds of them are boarding troop trains here, bound for action which the revolutionists hope will lead them to Sao Paulo and Rio De Janeiro.

Accompanied by Gen. Miguel Luis Da Cunha, chief of the rebel frontier forces, I watched several cavalry troops enroute for the state of Parana. The majority were volunteers, ranging between the ages of 18 and 25. They were well equipped, carrying Mauser rifles, sabers and blankets. Some of them retained their brilliant saddle blankets of dyed sheep skin, and many wore red handkerchiefs around their necks, symbol of the "Alinza Libertador," the alliance of the liberator.

Others carried green, red and yellow ribbons on their shoulders, the insignia of provisional service.

Scores of men, women and children gathered at the railroad station to bid the troops farewell. The trains have been carrying forces northward to join Gen. Miguel Costa since the revolt started. Most of the troops will be transported at night, it is understood, to avoid danger of attack by federal airplanes.

The streets of Sant' Ana, frontier town on the Uruguayan border in southernmost Brazil, practically were deserted today. Most of the men in the town and the vicinity have already gone north in the forces which the revolutionists plan to send against the federal strongholds, Sao Paulo and the federal capital, Rio De Janeiro.

Revolutionary leaders claimed steady progress. Francisco Flores Da Cunha, a rebel leader, told the correspondent that forces advancing southward on Sao Paulo from the state of Minas Geraes had captured the town of Lorena, in the state of Sao Paulo, containing one of the principal federal ammunition factories. The capture of Lorena cut off railway communication between Sao Paulo and Rio De Janeiro, Flores Da Cunha said.

He declared that Florianopolis, island capital of the state of Santa Catharina, was the only important city in southern Brazil not held by revolutionists, but that it was expected to fall before a heavy siege soon. It was in Florianopolis that federal troops established the fifth army area to attack the revolutionists in the south.

He said that the only troops in Florianopolis were those disembarked from two federal warships four days ago. The warships intended to attack the city of Rio Grande Do Sul, Flores Da Cunha said, and proceeded up the Laguna Dos Patos, a body of water cut off from the Atlantic by a long peninsula, to rebel headquarters in Porto Alegre. But rebels blocked entrance to the Laguna by sinking two ships in the channel.

Claims of rebel successes today, as stated in an official revolutionary bulletin, included:

Five thousand rebel troops in Parana under Col. Souza Filho have joined Gen. Miguel Costa in the north; President Alfonso Camargo of Parana was deposed and replaced by Major Plunin Tourinho.

Revolutionary forces in Parana total 40,000 men; the state of Minas Geraes is two ways dominated by the revolt; from the north, 20,000 rebels from the states of Piaunhy, Maranhao, Ceara, Rio Grande Do Norte, and Alagoas under Gen. Juarez Tavora are marching on Bahia, ancient capital of Brazil and an important sea port.

Recent statements of the federal government that the revolution had a communistic origin are "ridiculous," the bulletin said, because the movement has been attacked by communist leaders.

Rio De Janeiro, Oct. 10.—Brazilians were called to their "posts of duty" to combat the revolutionary movement in a manifesto issued by President Washington Luis today.

Revolutionists were accused of spreading subversive propaganda "to stimulate anarchist and communistic germs" in the presidential manifesto. The public was assured that the federal government felt able to crush the rebellion.

"The people should not allow themselves to be deceived by terrorizing rumors or alarming news broadcast by radio for the purpose of injecting uncertainty and confusion into the country," the manifesto said. "Fulfilling a mission in which it does not recognize failure, the government will adopt all necessary measures for the repression of disorder and the maintenance of the republic."

The rebels have adopted the radio as a means of spreading news throughout the country, but the government has limited itself to decrees and communiques, principally from the ministry of justice.

Rio De Janeiro, Oct. 10.—The state of Ceara, on the northern coast, was reported invaded by rebel armies today as the government rushed its preparations to meet a revolutionary advance from the south.

Moattos Peixoto, president of Ceara, was said to have fled southward.

Long sleeves distinguish the newer dinner gowns. Lace frocks, for the popularity of lace for dine-and-dance dresses has not diminished, are sleeved down to over the hand. Some of the Paris chiffon gowns in the new indigo or smart "off-black" shades are beaded to the elbow with flowing draperies attached as pictured. This gown emphasizes the trend to dignity and elegance in gowns for social occasions.

Every one likes the new wide-brimmed felt hats. They are so youthful and so flattering. The model pictured has the correct very shallow crown, which sets the hat back off the forehead. Its brim, in white, with crown in black, smartly interprets the black-and-white vogue. The little beret with a bow at the side is a "last word" in chic as it is made of felt stripping which milliners are using extensively. The other stunning felt which is in acajou brown is one of the voguish double or cushion-rim types.

Look Up!

By continually looking upwards our minds will themselves grow upwards; and as a man, by indulging in habits of scorn and contempt for others, is sure to descend to the level of what he despises, so the opposite habits of admiration and enthusiastic reverence for excellence impart to ourselves a portion of the qualities we admire. Here, as in everything else, humility is the surest path to exaltation.—Exchange.

Chicago, Oct. 10.—(UP)—Ferdinand J. Sohn, 45, secretary of the investment securities firm of Correll & Co., was found shot to death in his automobile today. He apparently had killed himself because of financial worries incident to stock market declines.

Look Up!

By continually looking upwards our minds will themselves grow upwards; and as a man, by indulging in habits of scorn and contempt for others, is sure to descend to the level of what he despises, so the opposite habits of admiration and enthusiastic reverence for excellence impart to ourselves a portion of the qualities we admire. Here, as in everything else, humility is the surest path to exaltation.—Exchange.

Intellect at Its Best

The greatest and most beautiful example of intellect is when it is effective in the well-ordering of cities and of private dwellings and which is given the name of judgment and justice.—Plato.

Pequot Farmer Admits Charge of Transportation, Fined $100 or 90 Days

CHILD CAUGHT DRINKING

Father Taken Into Custody When Officer Finds Liquor in Car

Victor Strom, Pequot, admitted to Judge J. H. Warner this afternoon that he was in the Pequot racket but said he was forced into it because he couldn't make a living any other way for his wife and family of five children.

Strom was arrested on East Laurel street this afternoon by Officer H. E. Sande after a complaint had been received, according to City Attorney D. H. Fullerton, that a child was drinking liquor in a car.

On the search of the car the officer seized a pint of moonshine whiskey and four empty gallon jars.

Strom was arraigned by City Attorney Fullerton and entered a plea of guilty to transportation of liquor. He was fined $100 or 90 days in the city jail.

"I haven't got the $100 nor I can't stay in jail because I have to take care of my family," he said.

Arrangements are being made by Strom to pay part of his fine and raise the remainder among his friends.

The child found drinking the liquor was a deaf mute, the judge was informed.

"I can't make a living on my farm. I can't get work anywhere. So what am I going to do," the man said.

"You must be a good salesman to sell four gallons of liquor in one day here," Judge Warner asked the prisoner.

"It wouldn't take much of a salesman to sell four gallons of liquor in a town like this," Strom replied. "Why I have seen as high as 250 gallons of liquor coming through at one time from Canada."

LATE DECISIONS OF SUPREME COURT OF MINNESOTA

St. Paul, Oct. 10.—(UP)—The legality of the state basic science statute was upheld today by the state supreme court. In an appeal of the case of state versus A. H. Bruden, the court held that the law which requires those practicing the healing art to pass an examination before being licensed was constitutional. The case was appealed from the St. Louis county district court.

The state supreme court today reversed a decision of the Stearns county district court in the case of Theodore L. Graham versus the Soo Line railroad. Graham was burned by a washing compound while washing a locomotive. The court held that under the facts there was no reasonable support for a judgment.

The winning party in a lawsuit who is awarded his costs, has no further claim against his adversary, the state supreme court ruled today in a case against Rollo E. Chaffee appealed from St. Louis county district court by Olive Ida Smith.

"Your boy may be hard on his clothes but they won't be hard on your purse if bought here."

FORD COAL

Product of Ford Motor Company

FORD COAL is clean and long burning, with an extra-high carbon content that gives more heat. The little ash that it leaves has a high fusion point, which means that when the coal is properly burned it will not clinker. Chemical analysis showed this before the Ford Motor Company selected the mines—and the happy experience of hundreds of users is conclusive proof of the accuracy of the tests.

Just as important—it's a great satisfaction to the home owner to be sure he's getting all coal when he fills his bins. Ford Coal is carefully graded for size, and picked clean of impurities and grate-clogging wastes. It is screened by experts, trained to the high standards of the Ford Motor Company.

DR. S. M. BABCOCK GIVEN RECOGNITION

NATIONAL COUNTRY LIFE ASSOCIATION PRESENTS REWARD OF $5,000

Madison, Wis., Oct. 10.—(AP)—Although he might have made millions of dollars on his scientific contributions to the dairying industry, Dr. Stephen Moulton Babcock was content today with a reward of $5,000.

That sum was presented to the 87-year-old professor emeritus of agricultural chemistry at the University of Wisconsin by the National Country Life Association when he was honored last night as America's most discoverer.

The money and a plaque were given to him by the donor, Senator Arthur Capper, Kansas farm paper publisher, and the story of his lowly, former Illinois governor and president of the association.

Dr. Babcock's famous butter fat test, with revolutionized methods of handling milk, headed the long list of achievements which he had steadfastly refused to capitalize.

His indifference to money was explainable in the light of his single-minded concentration on research work. Outside financial affairs would have been a bother and a distraction, he figured. He placed telephones in the same category and none has ever been installed in his old-fashioned home here. He was compelled to have a phone in his office because of an order by the university's president.

DR. S. M. BABCOCK GIVEN RECOGNITION

NATIONAL COUNTRY LIFE ASSOCIATION PRESENTS REWARD OF $5,000

Madison, Wis., Oct. 10.—(UP)—Although he might have made millions of dollars on his scientific contributions to the dairying industry, Dr. Stephen Moulton Babcock was content today with a reward of $5,000.

That sum was presented to the 57-year-old professor emeritus of agricultural chemistry at the University of Wisconsin by the National Country Life Association when he was honored last night as America's most discoverer.

The money and a plaque were given to him by the donor, Senator Arthur Capper, Kansas farm paper publisher, and the story of his work was recounted by Frank O. Lowden, former Illinois governor and president of the association.

Dr. Babcock's famous butter fat test, with revolutionized methods of handling milk, headed the long list of achievements which he had steadfastly refused to capitalize.

His indifference to money was explainable in the light of his single-minded concentration on research work. Outside financial affairs would have been a bother and a distraction, he figured. He placed telephones in the same category and none has ever been installed in his old-fashioned home here. He was compelled to have a phone in his office because of an order by the university's president.

Reports from Minnesota cities showed that the rainfall had varied greatly in different sections and meteorologists said that it was not yet possible to determine whether Minnesota had received a normal precipitation.
